1962 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME DALLAS TEXANS 20, HOUSTON 17 (OT)

December 23, 1962, at Houston. Attendance 37,981

In what was at the time the longest game in the history of professional football, the Dallas Texans dethroned the two-time defending AFL champion Houston Oilers when Tommy Brooker kicked a 25-yard field goal after 2:54 of the sixth quarter, or 17:54 of sudden-death overtime.

Regulation time consisted of one half for the Texans, who led 17-0 after two quarters, and one half for the Oilers, who tied it up with 17 second-half points.

The overtime started with a potentially damaging gaffe by Dallas captain Abner Haynes, who had already scored twice, but who won the toss and then elected to 'kick to the clock.' What Haynes wanted was the strong wind behind his team, but, by saying kick first, it gave the Oilers the chance to decide which end to take, and they, needless to say, chose to have the wind behind them. As it turned out, it didn't matter.

After an interception near the end of the first overtime period, the Texans took over at midfield. Two big plays by fullback Jack Spikes put the ball at the Houston 19, and, on fourth-and-nine, Brooker calmly ended the contest.
