1964 AFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME BUFFALO 20, SAN DIEGO 7

December 26, 1964, at Buffalo. Attendance 40,242

Keith Lincoln started off the game like he was going to match his record-setting performance the year before, but a crushing tackle by Buffalo linebacker Mike Stratton left Lincoln with a broken rib and the Chargers struggling offensively. The result was a 20-7 victory for the Bills and their first AFL title.

The Chargers scored on a 26-yard pass from Tobin Rote to tight end Dave Kocourek on their first possession, a play set up by Lincoln's dazzling 38-yard run. Lincoln had even kicked the point after. They were driving again, when Lincoln who had already made 47 yards on only three carries caught a pass and gained 11 yards before being leveled by Stratton. And that, to a great extent, was the day offensively for San Diego.

The Bills slowly established their dominance, as they took a 13-7 halftime lead on two chip-shot field goals by Pete Gogolak and a four-yard scoring run by halfback Wray Carlton. Then, after a scoreless third period, Jack Kemp hit end Glenn Bass with a 48-yard pass to set up Kemp's scoring quarterback sneak, the final score of the day.
